Learn the Business of Speaking from Professional Speakers

Entering its 14th year, the NSA Northern California Speakers Academy trains speakers, trainers, consultants, coaches, authors, entertainers and experts from a variety of fields about the business of speaking. Monthly all-day workshops expose participants to successful speakers from NSA Northern California and beyond to learn about topic selection and development, markets for speakers, the business of speaking, branding and collateral materials, sales, social media marketing, multiple product streams, storytelling, protecting one's intellectual property, ethics and much more. Participants also deliver showcase presentations, benefit from practice, video recording and coaching, and experience accountability through small group team meetings throughout the program.
